Foreign cattle imported by sea shall pay an impost of $10 per head.

Article 9.—All products or manufactures exported to foreign countries shall be free of duty.

Article 10.—The following exceptions apply to the preceding article:—1. Nitrate shall pay $3 38c. per metric quintal in the form provided in Article 11 of this law; 2. Iodine shall pay $1 27c. per kilo. in the same form as nitrate.

Article 11.—A portion of the export duties, to be determined by the President of the Republic in quantity sufficient to cover the ordinary expenditure of the State abroad, shall be paid in bills on London at 90 days' sight, and at the rate of 1s. 6d. per $1. The remainder shall be paid in currency with the necessary surcharge for exchange, upon the commercial value of currency, to obtain 1s. 6d.

Article 12.—If the articles on which this law imposes a duty of 60 p.c. and of 35 p.c. on account of the material of which they are manufactured, such as articles of tin plate, paper, cardboard, leather, skin, etc., should be mixed with other material subject to an inferior duty, the duty of 60 p.c. and of 35 p.c. shall be paid, except when the inferior material shall exceed 75 p.c. of the value of the article, which in this case shall be subject to the general duty of 25 p.c.

TARIFF OF CHINA.

OPEN PORTS.—ANTUNG.—Goods may now enter the following additional ports from all countries: Nanning, Harbin, Kinin, Mandchourie, Tsitsihar, Changchun, Tiehling, Tungchiangtzu, Takumen, Tsin-min Tung, Fenghwang-cheng, Liaoyang, Ninguta, Hunchun, Sanhsing, Hailar, and Aihun. Dalny is duty free.

New Customs Tariff agreed upon between H.M. Special Commissioner and Chinese Commissioners, and approved by representatives of various foreign Powers, and applied on and after October 31st, 1902.

VALUATION AND CUSTOMS REGULATIONS.—Rule 1.—Imports unenumerated in this Tariff will pay duty at the rate of 5 p.c. ad val.; and the value upon which duty is to be calculated shall be the market value in local currency. This market value when converted into Haikwan taels shall be considered to be 12 p.c. higher than the amount upon which duty is to be calculated.

If the goods have been sold before presentation to the Customs of the application to pay duty, the gross amount of the bona-fide contract will be accepted as evidence of the market value. Should the goods have been sold on C. F. and I. terms—that is to say, without inclusion in the price of duty and other charges—such C. F. and I. price shall be taken as the value for duty-paying purposes without the deduction mentioned in the preceding paragraph.

If the goods have not been sold before presentation to the Customs of the application to pay duty, and should a dispute arise between Customs and importer regarding the value or classification of goods, the case will be referred to a Board of Arbitration composed as follows: An official of the Customs; a merchant selected by the Consul of the importer; and a merchant, differing in nationality from the importer, selected by the Senior Consul. Questions of procedure, etc., which may arise during the sittings of the Board, shall be decided by the majority. The finding, which must be announced within 15 days, will be binding upon both parties. Each of the two merchants on the Board will be entitled to a fee of ten Haikwan taels. Should the Board sustain the Customs valuation, or, in the event of not sustaining that valuation, should it decide that the goods have been undervalued by the importer to the extent of not less than 7½ p.c., the importer will pay the fees; if otherwise, the fees will be paid by the Customs. Should the Board decide that the correct value of the goods is 20 p.c. (or more) higher than that upon which the importer originally claimed to pay duty, the Customs authorities may retain possession of the goods until full duty has been paid, and may levy an additional duty equal to four times the duty sought to be evaded. In all cases invoices, when available, must be produced if required by the Customs.

Rule II.—The following will not be liable to import duty: Foreign rice, cereals, and flour; gold and silver, both bullion and coin; printed books, charts, maps, periodicals, and newspapers. A freight or part freight of duty-free commodities (gold and silver bullion and foreign coins excepted) will render the vessel carrying them, though no other cargo be on board, liable to tonnage dues. Drawbacks will be issued for ships' stores and bunker coal when taken on board.

Rule III.—Except at the requisition of the Chinese Government, or for sale to Chinese authorised to purchase them, import trade is prohibited in all arms, ammunition, and munitions of war of every description. No permit to land them will be issued until the Customs have proof that the necessary authority has been given. Infraction of this rule will be punishable by confiscation of all the goods. The import of salt is absolutely prohibited.

NOTE.—1 picul = 100 catties = 133⅓ lbs. avoirdupois; 1 chang = 10 Chinese ft. = 141 English ins., 1 chang = 3 yds. 9 ins.; 1 tael = 10 mace, 1 mace = 10 condareen, 1 condareen = 10 cash. The nominal value of the tael is 6s. 6½d.; but upon the authority of the Chinese Legation we state that "the value of a Chinese tael is liable to fluctuation almost every day." The approximate average value during the first six months of 1912 was 2s. 11½d.

NOTE.—If articles enumerated are imported in dimensions exceeding those specified, the duty is to be calculated in proportion to the measurements as defined.

and 251, except in the case when a previous and special authorisation has been granted by the collector at the chief port.

‖ The machines and apparatus mentioned in this number are those employed by farmers and agriculturists for preparing the ground and gathering the crops, also those employed in order to clean the crops and improve them without essentially changing their nature.

 Machines and separate pieces of the same, of copper and its alloys, with part of other materials shall also be taxed under this heading, provided the above metals predominate in weight.

†† It will be necessary to prove to what manufacture or to what industry spare woollen hose and filters are destined in order to be assessed according to this number.

For the definition of parts of machinery the following rules must be observed:

1. A separate piece of a machine is understood to be any object which is not expressly specified by name under some heading of the tariff, and which by its shape and by the manner in which it is presented for clearance in the Custom House, though not completely finished, may be considered as exclusively destined to a machine and can have no other application. If it be imported completely finished, it must pay under one of the headings of the tariff referring to machinery.

2. Tubes, bars, axles, screws, bolts, sheets, plates, boiler bottoms, wire and other articles expressly taxed in the tariff must pay duty accordingly, though they be destined to machinery.

3. Tools, instruments, and utensils employed in the arts, agriculture, and industry can not be considered as parts of machinery for the application of duty, and must pay according to the materials of which composed.

National ships lengthened in foreign dockyards, must, on their return, pay duty on the additional tonnage.

Vessels refitted with engines abroad shall pay a fiscal duty of $6 per horse-power, when it is impossible to ascertain the weight of the new machinery.

Boilers and accessories thereof, funnels, tubes, etc., changed abroad, shall be liable to a fiscal duty of $3 per each square metre of heating surface.

Vessels undergoing other repairs in foreign ports, shall, on their return, pay duty on the material employed for the purpose.

256*a* Salvage from wrecked vessels is prima facie dutiable on appraised value according to its material.*

NOTES.—(1) Artificial silk is in all cases treated as silk. (2) The admixture of india-rubber, gutta-percha, tinsel, metal, wire, and the like, by weaving in or similar process does not affect any alteration in the assessment of duty, except in cases where it is specially mentioned, and in the case of silk goods, so that the weaving or similar admixture into the latter, of the materials named, has the same effect as regards the application of the tariff as the weaving or admixture of other materials. Goods into which silk flock has been woven without running the whole length of the thread pay duty without reference to such admixture of silk. (3) Embroidery on textiles is considered as weaving. (4) Sewing, knitting, or edging with a material other than the chief material, the presence of single threads of such a material at corners, or of silk elastic as a subordinate part of an article do not render goods subject to a higher duty. (5) Single threads of other materials in silk goods are treated as if of silk, when they do not form part of the pattern. Silk goods pasted together with another material are treated, so far as is not specially provided, as silk goods paying the lowest rates of duty. (6) In the case of admixtures, additions, or combinations of the materials named above, not specially provided for, and other than those for which rules are given above, the whole article is to pay duty at the rate fixed for its most highly tariffed component. (7) Woollen yarn and felt, which appear to be dyed, are treated as undyed only when the importer declares them to be undyed and the declaration is accepted as valid. (8) No reduction is given for the interior, etc., of button or ribbon makers' wares. (9) Textile goods sewn or otherwise worked, are to be treated as unmanufactured, unless the work applied causes them to fall under some other number of the tariff, e.g., "Clothing." (10) All articles of clothing to which a surtax is applicable under the rules of No. 110, and all goods (except sewn sacks) which have been worked to an extent greater than simply seaming or edging, such as sewn sails and the like, are excluded from credit warehousing, as also are all made-up articles which, owing to added material being woven in or affixed, are subject to a higher rate of duty than their chief material.

(2) By parts of machines, which in accordance with No. 168 may pay duty ad val., are to be understood objects which appear to be parts of machines properly so called, but not articles which may otherwise be necessary for the working or use of the machine, such as driving belts, shuttles, spools, etc. (3) The importer must state whether he wishes the goods to pay duty ad val., or according to description, before the Customs proceedings begin.

261 (B) Timber, so far as not mentioned above—(1) Unwrought or only roughly shaped with the saw or axe. (a) Of trees with acicular leaves (the fir tribe)—Round wood (trunks), timber, sleepers, planks, boards, laths, staves and the like. When imported in decked vessels.....per ton of space under deck 2 30

NOTE.—With deduction in the case of steamers of the actual size of the space occupied by or necessary for the motive power. If the goods are also imported as deck cargo, the cubic contents of the cargo on deck are included in the measurement, and 1·50 cubic metres taken as 1 ton. (If it results from the method of loading that other goods, or masts, deck houses or other fixed objects are included in the measurement, a deduction is allowed for such spaces included.) The preceding method of assessing duty is applied in the following cases: (1) When the cargo space below deck is entirely occupied by the dutiable kinds of wood named, alone or in conjunction with other goods laden with them—in the latter case, however, only if, so far as can be judged, the goods laden with the wood do not occupy more than one-fourth of the cargo space below deck. A rebate according to the space occupied is allowed up to one-fourth of the cargo-space for the goods laden with the wood, 1·80 cubic metres being reckoned as 1 ton. If owing to the nature of the goods they cannot be measured, their cubic content is calculated from their weight, number, or the like in accordance with the rules issued on this subject by the Customs' Administration. (2) When on a fully laden vessel, the goods laden with the wood appear to occupy more than one-fourth of the cargo-space below deck, provided the cargo is discharged at a place where there is no Customs house, or the importer desires to pay duty according to the tonnage of the vessel. In both these cases, however, the rebate in respect of goods laden with the wood may be granted only up to one-fourth of the capacity of the cargo-space. (3) When the cargo-space of the vessel is not fully occupied, provided the cargo is discharged at a place where there is no Customs house, or the importer desires to pay duty according to the tonnage of the vessel. In both these cases duty is to be paid without any rebate for the unoccupied cargo-space or the cargo-space occupied by other goods. (4) When the wood is imported in railway truck loads, and the importer desires this method of paying duty to be applied. In this case the cubic contents of the truck loads are to be measured together and converted into tons at the same rates as determined above for deck cargoes on vessels. No rebate is allowed for other goods packed with the wood. (5) Conversions from cubic metres to tons are to be expressed in decimal fractions to one place; when the next figure should be 5 or more, the first decimal is increased by 1.

	Credit warehousing—Entries, 6 tons; withdrawals, 1 ton. (In the case of withdrawals or of examining the contents of the warehouse, 1·5 cubic metres are to be taken as the equivalent of a ton.)

269	(c) Of fine exotic woods—Boards, planks and the like, planed or tongued, but not further worked or prepared; parquetry staves ..... cub. met.	4 50
	NOTES to Nos. 262 to 269.—(1) For flaws (rough edges) and for holes in bored wood, no allowance is to be given, except that a rough edge on one side only is taken into account in measuring planks and boards. (2) Measurements of $\frac{1}{10}$ metre in length and of $\frac{1}{2}$ cm. in breadth and thickness are only taken into account, fractions under these limits being left out of account; if the whole length is less than $\frac{1}{2}$ metre or the breadth or thickness less than 1 cm., measurements are taken to the nearest cm. or mm. (3) When, on account of the shape of the wood, its cubic content cannot be arrived at by measurement, it is to be determined from the weight by means of the specific weight of the wood per cubic metre. (4) (a) Trees with acicular leaves include all such trees which grow wild in Northern Europe (including all Baltic countries), or are generally cultivated there, as well as the foreign (especially North American) varieties of such trees, which are dealt in in similar forms, and used for similar purposes to the European. The Customs Administration is authorised to include under this number: (a) Such imported goods as cannot from their nature be referred to any other number of the tariff; (b) Goods, the classification of which appears to the Customs Administration to be doubtful; (c) Shipwrecked goods which belonged to vessels wrecked on the Danish coast or brought to shore from the place of wreck near the coast, or are cast ashore or salved from the open sea, or goods damaged by sea-water en route, if it is shown by the marine protest made that the injury to the goods was the result of damage to the vessel, as well as other goods, damaged in Denmark by fire, flood and other similar accidents or natural occurrences before being presented for examination by the Customs, before leaving the custody of the Customs, or before being examined by the Customs—all provided that the Customs' officials are of opinion that the goods are damaged or injured to such an extent that they cannot be regarded as fit articles of trade, and that the importer desires this method of paying duty.

Besides the articles designated in the preceding tariff as duty free, the following are also to be exempt from import duty:—(a) All goods, which are shown to be manufactured in the Faroe Islands, Iceland, or in the Danish settlements in Greenland, from products of those lands and are imported directly therefrom. If the said effects do not accompany the passenger himself, the Customs Administration may further require from him a written declaration, on his word of honour, that the articles are his travelling effects and destined only for his own use. (c) Articles of clothing and travelling effects which belonged to natives of Denmark who have died outside the Customs limits, provided the articles are deemed to have been used. (d) Tools, instruments, appliances, and the like, which travelling workmen or artists use for the exercise of their handicraft or art, if such articles are deemed by the Customs to have been used. (e) Removal goods (immigrants' effects), i.e., furniture, bedding, cooking utensils, and other household effects, musical instruments, agricultural implements, tools, machines, and other appliances, which appertain to the method of livelihood of the importer, as well as other similar goods, if the owner really comes from abroad to settle in Denmark, if the articles in question bear traces of use, and if they are imported on account, and for the use of the persons who have already made use of them. A written declaration as to these points on word of honour is to be delivered to the Customs. (f) Articles for packing, which are imported with goods for their preservation, and cannot in the opinion of the Customs Administration be regarded as independent articles of trade; also used packing materials, such as receptacles made of sheet metal, bottles, barrels, boxes, chests, trunks, and baskets, if imported without goods, provided such articles cannot in the opinion of the Customs be regarded as articles of trade. (g) Models and samples of goods otherwise dutiable, if they are considered unfit for other purposes. (h) Natural history specimens for scientific collections. (i) Works of art, antiquities, ethnographic objects, and the like for public collections or other public use. (k) Arms, ammunition, &c., imported by the military services for their use. (l) Ships' utensils and articles of equipment for vessels, which are brought from abroad or from a free port or place by native or foreign vessels for use on board, provided that they appear to the Customs in view of their description and quantity to form part of the vessel's equipment. Otherwise they are treated according to the general provisions of the Tariff. (m) Provisions which are brought from abroad or from a free port or place by native or foreign vessels, provided such provisions either remain on the vessel, or, if they are warehoused for transit on arrival, are exported later by the same vessel or otherwise. Similarly, provisions and other requisites for vessels which are consumed or used on board the vessel which brought them from abroad or from a free port, whilst it remains in Denmark, are exempt from duty, provided the persons concerned observe the regulations laid down by the Customs to prevent fraud. Provisions which persons on board shipwrecked vessels retain for their own consumption are duty-free. (n) Coffins with corpses and urns with ashes of cremated bodies.

NOTE.—The Customs shall be authorised to admit at discretion certain other goods and things duty-free, under exceptional and not ordinary commercial conditions.

REGULATIONS AS TO TARE.

When, according to the Tariff, goods are dutiable according to weight, the net weight thereof is to form the basis for the calculation of duty.

By net weight is to be understood as a rule the actual weight of the goods without any packing.

The following receptacles and wrappings or articles for the preservation of goods are, however, to be included in the net weight:—(a) Glass flasks, bottles, glasses, and other glass receptacles and jugs. (b) Single envelopes of paper, bladders, gummed tissue, tinfoil and the like immediately surrounding the separate articles, with twine or sail yarn, wire and the like. (c) Linen bags and the like round clothes and similar articles. (d) Straw envelopes round articles of glass, but this is not to be understood as including the loose straw in which glass goods may be packed. (e) Boxes containing cotton, linen, or woollen yarn, as well as such envelopes and receptacles or wrappers which are usually sold with the goods in retail trade, and for which tare is not specially fixed in the Tariff, e.g., boxes for chocolate, toys, matches, perfumery, steel nibs, and the like; cartridge paper containing chicory, tobacco, &c.; tinfoil wrappings for pomade, soap, tobacco, &c.; bladders containing paint, tobacco, &c.; paint boxes, shells, glasses and cups containing paints; cases for instruments, gun-makers' wares, fancy goods, etc.; boxes, glasses, jugs, etc., with comestibles and the like. (f) Internal layers, e.g., of wood, cardboard, or paper, in piece goods; reels on which yarn, wire, and the like are woven; sheets of paper between gold and silver leaf; wood, card-board, and similar articles on which certain goods are fastened, and other similar objects.

The removal of the objects named in this paragraph as being included in the net weight, before the goods with which they are imported are weighed, is not allowed; but the removal of cardboard or similar thick paper coverings round silk tissues, as well as boxes containing textiles, shall be permitted before weighing, except in the cases expressly mentioned above.

It may be determined by Royal Decree that certain additions shall be made to the ascertained weight of articles which are usually imported in the receptacles, wrappings, and packages specified in (a) to (f) if the latter are absent on importation.

The net weight is arrived at either by actually investigating the weight of the goods, or by deducting from the gross weight the rates of tares set forth below.

In cases in which the note "according to investigation" appears in the tare column in the Tariff, it is to be understood that the net weight is to be determined by actual investigation; the Customs Administration may, however, permit in the case of such goods, whose nature admits of such a proceeding or which are offered for Customs examination in similar packages in bulk, such a degree of laxity in examination as may be convenient.

The results of investigations already made may, after they have been taken sufficiently often, be recognised by the Customs Administration as a provisional guide instead of investigating every single case.

When goods are presented in packings other than those mentioned in the tare provisions of the Tariff, or when the Tariff contains no tare provisions for an article, and it is not expressly laid down that an investigation of the tare shall take place, the following genera tare is to be allowed according to the nature of the packing, except so far as the latter has to be included in the net weight, viz.: (a) For barrels and boxes, per cent. of the gross weight, 16; (b) for metal receptacles, 12; (c) for straw mats, 5; (d) for linen, gunny, cotton rush, bast, and the like, 2; (e) for wooden frames, paper, or the like being provided for the ends, 3.

If barrels, boxes, or baskets have a single or multiple covering of linen, mats, or the like, the tare as fixed is to be increased 2 per cent.

Except in the cases in which tare is expressly fixed for double packing, tare is only allowed, in cases of double or multiple packing, for a single packing, namely, for the packing which gives the greatest tare. The importer may, however, remove the outer packing before weighing, and tare is then allowed for the internal packing.

No tare is allowed for other articles used in packing, e.g., cords of rope, bark, paper, wax-cloth, straw, moss, seaweed, and the like, but the importer is free to remove such objects before weighing, unless they should be included in the net weight; if the Customs consider that the packing material is entirely homogeneous, a trial weighing of the material may be allowed, if circumstances render it desirable.

In the case of casks containing liquids dutiable at net weight, 1½ times the tare is allowed if the cask is less than three-quarters full, and twice the tare if it is less than half full.

In other cases leakage or deficiency of contents is not taken into account in calculating tare. It is, however, open to the importer to fill up the casks before the duty is calculated.

No reduction of weight is allowed on account of the moisture in goods being by accident greater than usual, or for dirt and the like, with which goods may be mixed, or for deterioration, breakage, or other damage.

In the case, however, of deterioration or breakage, the importer is allowed to separate the damaged or broken goods before weighing, but goods thus separated must be thrown away or destroyed in the presence of the Customs officials, unless on account of their nature they can be admitted duty free as waste. The Customs Administration may allow goods which have become damp owing to damage at sea or the like, to be dried under the requisite control, before their weight is determined for the assessment of duty.

Deviations from the rates of tare fixed in the present Law are allowed only if an actual investigation of the net weight takes place. Such investigation may be demanded by the Customs authorities as well as by the importer. If the goods are unpacked on the demand of the Customs, the tare ascertained shall serve as basis for the duty only if it is at least 20 per cent. lower or is greater than the legal tare. If investigation is required by the importer, the tare ascertained is taken into account only in cases where it is at least 10 per cent. greater or is less than the legal tare.

In cases where the Customs have made use of the right to determine a rate of tare as provisional guide, the tare thus determined is to be considered as the legal tare.

Notwithstanding these provisions, the Customs may always require the goods to be unpacked, when they consider it necessary for the examination of the goods, and in such cases the tare ascertained is taken as the basis for the duty.

When goods for which different rates of duty or tare are laid down are packed together, the net weight is to be ascertained by actual investigation.

The preceding provisions as to tare are applicable, not only when the goods are assessed for duty immediately on importation, but also when they are entered for, or withdrawn from, credit warehousing, or are exported with refund of duty; the following provisions are, however, to be observed when goods are exported from credit warehousing or with rebate of duty:—(a) If tare in accordance with the Tariff is calculated in the declaration, it must be seen that the packing corresponds to the similar original packing in which the goods are generally imported with tare in accordance with the Tariff; if the Customs officials have any doubts on this head, the net weight is to be investigated. (b) As regards internal layers of wood and the like in piece goods, and the wrappers, &c., which are included in the net weight, the importer (declarant) has in making his declaration to state on his word of honour that the weight of such layers or wrappers in proportion to the weight of the goods corresponds to the method in which the goods were packed as originally imported; in cases of doubt, investigation is to be made by the Customs. (c) If the goods are provided with double or multiple packings and no tare for such packings has been expressly provided, the outer packing is to be removed before weighing, unless the importer (declarant) declares himself satisfied that the legal tare on the heaviest portion of the packings be doubled. (d) The packing materials for which no tare is allowed are also to be removed before weighing, unless the importer (declarant) is satisfied with the weight as determined by the Customs in accordance with their appraisement.

TARIFF OF FRANCE.

The following Tariff, passed into Law on March 29, became operative April 1, 1910.

1 Franc = 9·6d. 100 Kilogs. = 220·46 lbs.

ART. 1 of the New Law cites past laws upon which, with additions and modifications, the Law of March 29, 1910, is founded.

ART. 2 enumerates articles which may be temporarily admitted free of duty.

ART. 3 sets forth the regulations governing surtaxes applicable to all or any goods from countries which may subject French goods to surtaxes or particularly high duties, etc.

ART. 4 provides that Article 6 of the Law of 19th May, 1866, is completed by the following provision :—

"Should French vessels be subjected in a foreign country to treatment less favourable than that accorded to vessels of other Powers, the Government is authorised to levy on the vessels of such country entering French ports or ports of a French Colony or Possession, and on the goods carried by those vessels, such duties or surtaxes as may be deemed necessary to countervail the prejudice suffered by the French flag."

ART. 5 provides that any person, merchant, trader or commercial traveller travelling in France with a view to taking orders on account of firms established in foreign countries, shall be liable to taxes equivalent to the licence and internal taxes to which merchants, traders, and commercial travellers carrying on the same business on account of firms established in France are liable in those countries. The same reciprocity of treatment shall be accorded as regards the conditions governing the admission of samples and patterns.

ART. 8 provides that the Government may maintain in force exceptionally and as a temporary measure the rates of the General Tariff in force prior to the present Law as regards all or any goods the produce of countries which do not subject French products to any differential treatment whatever. Measures taken to give effect to the preceding paragraph shall be submitted for the ratification of the Chambers, immediately if they are in session, and if not, on the opening of the following session.

NOTE.—The surtaxes previously levied in France on certain articles of European production imported from countries other than those of origin, and on non-European products imported from European countries, remain unaffected by the present Law.

NOTE.—On and after Jan. 1, 1914, products of the French Colonies, other than sugar, molasses, syrups, bonbons, sweet biscuits, jams, fruits of all kinds preserved with sugar or honey, and pepper shall be admitted into France free of duty, if brought direct and subject to proof of origin.

NOTE.—By a Convention of April 6, 1914, the Customs duties levied in the Principality of Monaco are the same as those levied in France.

† The surface is measured on the body of the carpet, including the ends, selvage and fringes. A tolerance of 2 per cent. shall be accorded in the composition of the rows (rangées). (New Tariff.)

‡ The unit for calculating the number of rows (rangées) is a metre in depth in the direction of the warp. The measurement is made over 10 centimetres, neglecting fractions of a row; the result of this operation multiplied by 10 gives the number of rows per metre. In the case of carpets whose texture is not uniformly compact, the rows are to be counted as above prescribed, once on the most compact portion and once on the least compact. The average of the two figures determines the classification of the carpet. In calculating the average any fraction in the quotient is to be neglected.

§ Articles of hosiery trimmed with crochet, lace, ribbon, tape, galloons and other ornaments shall not be considered as embroidered or ornamented with lace or trimming, provided that such additions be simple accessories increasing by less than 15 per cent. the value of the article. TARIFF OF GERMANY (AND LUXEMBURG).

NOTE.—While it has been our usual practice to revise the various tariffs up to December 31 in each year, in this case it has not been practicable owing to the fact that Germany is a hostile nation. The revision has taken place up to August, 1914. Changes since the outbreak of war have not been incorporated.

IMPORTANT.—THE FOLLOWING IS THE NEW GERMAN TARIFF AS MODIFIED BY THE LAW OF JULY 15, 1909, AND BY COMMERCIAL TREATIES, AND OPERATIVE ALSO UNDER THE MOST FAVOURED NATION CLAUSE. IT IS ALSO MODIFIED BY THE NEW SWEDEN-GERMANY TREATY WHICH OPERATES FROM JAN. 1, 1912.

NOTE.—The " Most Favoured Nation Clause " is continued towards British and Colonial goods (except Canada) until December 31, 1915. But from and after March 1, 1910, Canada also enjoys the benefit of this Clause in respect of products coming under Nos. 2, 3, 4, 18, 19, 47, 48, 76, 83, 100, 103, 104, 108, 123, 126, 162, 208, 219, 316, 349, 350, 545, 556, 650 and 651 of the General Tariff. And from and after February 8, 1910, the United States also come under the most-favoured-nation treatment.

NOTE.—1 mark = 100 pfennige = 1*s.*
100 kilogrammes = = 220·4 lbs.
1 mark per 100 kilogrammes = 0·054*d.* per lb. / 6·1*d.* per cwt.
100 marks per 100 kilogrammes = 0·37*d.* per oz. troy. / 5·44*d.* per lb. avoir. / £2 10*s.* 9·8*d.* per cwt.

Note.—The duty, unless otherwise stipulated, is per 100 kilogs.

CATALOGUES OF BRITISH firms intended for German buyers, on which are printed the names of such British firms only, excluding agents and all others, are DUTY FREE.

CHANGES IN TARIFF CLASSIFICATION may be consulted at Board of Trade Offices, 73, Basinghall Street, London, E.C.

(2) The tissues, which shall be regarded as coming under the denomination of "flat-stitched," shall be those of figured cotton, in which, inside the interwoven figures, or parts of figures, the weft-threads of the pattern lie absolutely flush with the rest of the texture, at least on one side of the same, while standing in partial relief on the other side, and in which the width of the figures, as measured between any two consecutive turns of the weft-thread of the pattern, does not exceed 18 mm. Tissues of this kind shall be admitted as unbleached, and tariffed at 120 marks, even when only that part of the cotton yarn which is used for the pattern is bleached or dyed, or when occasional warp of weft-threads of bleached cotton are woven into the main tissue.

NOTES TO THE IRON CATEGORY, NOS. 777 TO 843.—(1) The term "iron" includes "steel" for purposes of the Customs tariff. (2) Flat wrought iron more than 25 cm. wide, for rolling mills, will pay duty as sheet iron. (3) Iron products will be considered as "worked" in opposition to "rough," if they have undergone surface operations, or alteration of form to fit them for some special purpose, to improve their appearance or to protect them against rust. (4) Iron in bars, wire, sheets, and tubes, and other iron wares, mechanically coated with copper, copper alloys, nickel, or aluminium or which have been chemically nickelled, are subject to a surtax of 50 p.c., in so far as the general tariff contains no special rules regarding them. If special rates apply to the above-named articles in a polished or generally "worked" condition, duties will be collected accordingly. (5) The combination of iron wares with other materials only affects their classification for duty (so far as not specially provided for in the category for iron goods), if it is provided in other tariff headings that wares, even if only partly consisting of some other material, yet have to pay duty as goods entirely manufactured of that material. (6) Statues, busts, reliefs, and figures of animals, made from the metals specified in Section XVII., if at least life size, will be admitted free of duty, so far as they are works of art.

TARIFF OF GREECE.

NOTE.—1 drachme = 100 lepta = $9\frac{6}{10}$d.; 1 dramia = 0.111 oz. avoirdupois; 1 oke = 400 dramia = 2.8 lbs.; 1 quintal = 44 okes = 123.2 lbs. N.O.M. = not otherwise mentioned. 1 drachme per oke = 3.43d. per lb.

NOTE.—Commercial Travellers' Samples of no value are admitted Duty Free. Duty must be secured to the Customs on Samples of value until they are exported.

NOTE.—In addition to the following Customs tariffs, an octroi duty of 4 p.c. a.v. is charged on goods on entering any municipality of Greece.

Import duties are levied on the net weight of goods entering Greece. The calculation to ascertain net weight is made according to a Customs formula; but if the consignee is dissatisfied with the tare allowance he may have the actual net weight ascertained by means of unpacking and weighing the goods. In cases where the process of separating goods from their wrappers and packings is inconvenient, the net weight is ascertained by weighing a part only of the consignment and estimating the net weight of the whole from the result.

In the case of the following goods the dutiable weight includes the weight of the immediate receptacles and packing:—Edible farinaceous products, sago, tapioca, etc., in paper, glass, thin wood or tin-plate; mineral waters, medicaments, and ready-made clothes of linen for women and girls in ordinary and common packing of all kinds; sewing thread, white or coloured, in paper receptacles or packages; steel sewing needles, in ordinary or common packages or cases; opera glasses, knives, forks, and razors, with handles, not of iron, in ordinary and common cases; medicinal syrups, in glass, stoneware, or china vessels; liquid perfumery in glass, stoneware, or china vessels or in leather receptacles; non-liquid perfumery in stuff sachets; goods of all kinds packed in paper (except cardboard or fancy paper), with certain exceptions. For these particulars we are indebted to the Board of Trade.

NOTE.—The following Schedules represent the principal articles only imported into Greece oversea.

NOTE.—With regard to the new Greek territories, Ægean Islands, Macedonia, &c., certain provisional tariff arrangements have been made. In some cases the rates in the following schedules do not apply to these territories.

NOTE.—On many of the undermentioned articles there is also a statistical tax of 10 cts. per 100 kilogs.

NOTE.—The following goods may be temporarily imported duty free: Casks, barrels, sacks, cases, baskets, hampers, crates and other external receptacles, used, imported empty to be filled; the external receptacles of foreign goods declared for importation for consumption, or for temporary importation, and the external receptacles of re-imported goods, in cases where such receptacles are dutiable, according to kind, separately from their contents; internal receptacles of the kinds enumerated in Article 13 of the Tare Regulations, containing goods declared for temporary importation, and destined to be re-exported together with the goods which they contain; bottles, jars, and demijohns, empty, disembarked from a vessel anchored in an Italian port and destined to be filled with beverages and returned to the same vessel, as part of the ship's stores; machines and apparatus imported for trial purposes; clothing, body-linen and bed-linen sent ashore from vessels in order to be washed, and portable cabinets of drugs, used, sent ashore from vessels for replenishment; naval stores, machines, boilers, and auxiliary apparatus, and parts thereof, for the refitting of vessels anchored in Italian ports.

TARIFF OF MEXICO.

The following is a list of the principal articles imported into Mexico and the rates of duty leviable thereon, according to Presidential Decrees operative from September 1, 1905, June 16, 1908, and February 15, 1909.

NOTE.—Kilo = 2·204 lbs. avoirdupois; sq. metre = 1·196 sq. yds.: peso = 4s. 2d.; cs. = cents.; cms. = centimetres; n. s. = not specified; "Net weight," actual weight of the merchandise; "legal weight" includes "net weight," and interior bottles, boxes, winders, wrappers, etc., in which the articles are imported. "Gross weight" = total weight of packages. When merchandise which pays according to "legal weight" has no other covering besides the one which forms the outside package, the actual weight of merchandise will be considered to be its legal weight.

NOTE.—Merchandise imported from foreign countries shall pay duties as set forth in the schedules, and also an additional duty of 1½ or 2 per cent., which may be charged by the customs authorities on account of municipalities: in the case of the customs at Mazatlan the addition is 2 per cent.

NOTE.—The rates of duty shown below were increased by 5 per cent. by the Mexican Revenue Law of 1912. Increased rates began to be levied September 1, 1912. A further increase of 5 per cent. is levied since February 16, 1913.

BY PRESIDENTIAL DECREE, AND OPERATIVE FROM SEPT. 1, 1905.

TARIFF OF EXCISE DUES LEVIED IN THE NETHERLANDS UPON FOREIGN GOODS IMPORTED.

Salt.

The excise amounts to fl. 3 per 100 kilogrammes of raw salt. Refined salt is not chargeable with excise, but with import duty (see the tariff of import-duties). Salt of a finer and whiter nature than the standard fixed by the Minister of Finance shall on importation be considered and taxed as refined salt. In virtue of article 74 of the law of September 27, 1892 (Collection of Acts, No. 227) exemption from excise can be granted to salt, required for: (a) sea fisheries; (b) salting of fish; (c) manufactories and trading establishments; (d) manuring lands; (e) feeding cattle; (f) thawing the rails on railways and clearing public thoroughfares; (g) machines intended for transit; (h) file factories; (i) manufactories of zinc chloride rendered abroad unfit for use as human food; (j) factories for making extracts from plants; (k) factories for preserving bones from corruption; (l) factories for purifying water for steam boilers.

Spirits.*

Under this heading are included besides unmixed alcoholic liquids, obtained by distillation: (a) Liqueurs, bitters, and other similar distilled drinks: (b) perfumed waters, varnish, and all other liquids prepared from alcohol, not being drinks, and containing more than five litres of pure alcohol per hectolitre at the temperature of 15 deg. C.

The excise amounts to fl. 63.00 per hectolitre, containing fifty litres of pure alcohol at the temperature of 15 deg. C.†). The excise for liquids of greater or less strength is calculated in proportion.

Foreign sweetened liquors, likewise all beverages, distilled or prepared from distilled liquids, which are imported in bottles or jars of less than 2 litres, are considered to contain 75 per cent. of pure alcohol. If however a greater strength is ascertained by the officers, the excise shall be calculated according to the real strength.

Perfumed waters, varnish and other similar liquids imported from abroad, are considered to have a strength of 90 per cent. If however a greater strength is ascertained by the officers, the excise shall be calculated according to the real strength. Except for the perfumed waters, the importer has, however, the right to cause the real strength to be ascertained and the excise to be calculated according to that strength by the custom-officers specially designed to that effect; provided that the liquid be imported in quantities of at least 2 hectolitres in casks or bottles of at least 25 litres.

(Art. 2. of the law of May 1st, 1863, Collection of Acts, No. 47.)

The two preceding alineas are also applicable for calculation of the import duty.

In addition to the excise, import duty has to be paid. (See the tariff of import duties.)

On importation at any other than the landing-places or offices, to be specially indicated by Royal Decree, the highest excise fixed for each kind of sugar mentioned under letters (c) (d) and (e), shall becomes due on the sugar and saccharine fluids.

By the word " wine " are understood all fermented drinks, wholly or partly prepared from the juice of the extracts of grapes, raisins, dried currants, and other fresh or dried fruits. Fluid lees and sediments are also taxed as wine, also unfermented juices or extracts of the fruits above mentioned, adapted to make, mix with, or dilute wine.

Fermented or unfermented drinks prepared in the country from fresh fruits, excepting grapes, are exempted from excise duty. The excess amounts to fl. 20.00 per hectolitre. If the wine contains more than 21 litres of alcohol per hectolitre at the temperature of 15 deg. C., the excise for this surplus of alcohol shall be charged as such in addition.

Exemption from excise duty is granted for wine used for manufacturing cognac, under the precautions against abuse, stipulated by Royal Decree.*

Regulations for ascertaining the origin of sugar are contained in the Royal Decrees of October 7, 1903.

The certificates of origin for sugar refined in Great Britain must contain the statement that no portion of the sugar originates from a country which the Permanent Commission has declared to be a country which grants bounties in the preparation or on the export of sugar. Failing such a statement the highest special import duty is due.

§ In virtue of decision No. 81 of July 23, 1909, exemption from excise duty can be granted for molasses intended for feeding cattle. Also " Panisan " horse food.

* By the law dated July 12, 1909, the present law is completed by the addition of article 7 bis whereby the Government reserve the right to grant exemption from excise duty for wine entering distilleries of the first class for use in the manufacture of distilled drinks for export abroad.

TARIFF OF SWEDEN.

This Tariff became operative on December 1st, 1911.

THE EFFECT OF THE GERMAN TREATY.—The Tariff of Sweden as enacted July 4, 1910, has been influenced downward in many items by the subsequent Treaty between Sweden and Germany. The changes have been made in the following schedules and apply to nations entitled to the "Most favoured nation Clause."

DUTY BY WEIGHT.—Duty, when determined in the Tariff according to weight, shall be calculated, unless otherwise specified, on the net weight of the goods, by which shall be understood their actual weight without packing.

The net weight shall be determined, as a rule, by weighing the goods gross, and then making the deductions prescribed by the law and the Customs. Where the nature of the goods permits, "the gross weight may be ascertained by weighing samples, or by some other method which will facilitate trade without prejudice to the rights of the State."

NOTE.—Machinery imported into Sweden on and after January, 1912, must be accompanied by a statement of the gross and net weight of every package, a full specification of the contents of each package, as well as all information of a nature to facilitate the assessment of duty.

GOODS IN TRANSIT to Norway pass in hand through Sweden; and vice versa.

SPECIAL FREE LIST.

In addition to the articles which are exempted from duty in accordance with the Tariff, the following shall also be duty free:

(a) Articles imported on account of the King or for members of the Royal Household; (b) articles which Foreign Embassies, accredited to Sweden, import for their own use; (c) heraldic arms, flags, and office requisites, and other similar articles for official use, which are imported for the Consulates in Sweden of foreign powers which, in their own countries, grant similar advantages to Sweden; (d) articles imported for the land or sea forces which are not manufactured in Sweden, or which cannot be obtained in Sweden in view of the necessity that they should be procured without delay, provided each case which occurs receives Royal approval; (e) clothing and bedding belonging to travellers or persons employed on vessels, when such clothing or bedding is evidently used, or, if accompanying the owner, is found not to be in excess of his personal requirements; (f) requisites belonging to travellers, to persons employed on vessels, to the staff of trains, or to carriers, provided such requisites are found not to be in excess of their requirements during the journey, and so far as there is no reason for assuming that they are intended for other purposes; used cycles and used hand-cameras brought by travellers, which are stated in a written declaration on the traveller's word of honour, to be for his own use and not for trading purposes, shall also be included amongst such requisites; (g) instruments, appliances, tools, and the like which are brought by persons engaged in the exercise of some science, art, or handicraft, for professional use whilst travelling or which are specially imported by them, provided that they give a written assurance on their word of honour that they are imported to be so used by them and not for purposes of trade; (h) ships' requisites and articles forming the equipment of vessels, including also household appliances belonging to vessels, provided such requisites and equipment can, in view of their nature and quantity, be reasonably regarded as intended for use on board the vessel in which they are imported, and so long as they remain on board; (i) articles forming part of the equipment of wrecked vessels; (k) ships' stores brought on a vessel coming from abroad, so far as they are required for the use of the crew or the passengers, so long as the vessel does not, after concluding its voyage, proceed to another Swedish port in the home trade. It shall be incumbent on the Customs Administration at the place where the vessel calls during a voyage, or after it has cleared to a place abroad, to seal, and to specify on the manifest or on the Customs permit, the portion of the supplies which has not paid duty, and which, in view of the number of the crew and passengers and of the length of the vessel's stay at such port, as well as the distance to the nearest port of call or to the open sea, cannot reasonably be regarded as required for the purpose stated. Such sealed stores, so far as they are not delivered for free use in accordance with preceding provisions, after being written off on the manifest or Customs permit, and provided they are not re-exported in due order, shall be subject to the ordinary rates of duty; (l) ready-made household furniture and articles of clothing imported by a foreign subject or a Swedish subject domiciled abroad at least for one year, who, in consequence of marriage with a person in Sweden, removes, provided that the conditions herein laid down are duly certified, and that the owner declares in writing on his or her word of honour that the goods were received as dowry or wedding presents in view of such marriage, and that circumstances do not exist to cast doubts on such statement; (m) old and used household articles and other effects when imported on behalf of persons immigrating from abroad or persons who, having a domicile in Sweden, have resided abroad for at least one year, either uninterruptedly or with occasional intervals only, provided in all cases that the owner certifies in writing on his word of honour that the conditions specified as entitling the goods to free admission exist, that he himself has used the articles in question, that they are imported for his own use and no trade purposes, and provided also that the Customs Office concerned find that they are not in excess of the requirements of the owner; (n) samples of goods which have no commercial value on importation, or which are rendered valueless when passing through the Customs; (o) packing and receptacles in which goods are imported, unless they are to be included in the dutiable weight of the goods, or their form, appearance or other circumstances show that they are not merely packages but are articles which can be used to a greater or less extent for other purposes, or that they are themselves imported for commercial purposes; shafts composed of wooden material joined together to effect the ventilation of cargo spaces on board vessels, and so called dunnage, such as mats, mattresses and similar goods clearly intended only for the protection of articles during transit and not imported for trade purposes shall also be included as packing; (p) old and used packing when imported separately, such as empty casks, tin cans, boxes and the like, when returned from abroad or imported to be re-exported with merchandise; but this provision shall not apply to butter casks; (q) articles produced or manufactured in Sweden, as well as foreign articles which have previously paid duty there, when re-imported in an unaltered state within ten years after being exported. In case, however, drawback was allowed on such articles when exported or on the material used therein, such drawback shall be repaid to the Customs. If on articles of Swedish manufacture or on casks or coverings in which they are evidently intended to be sold, there are marks indicating their Swedish origin, exemption shall not be obtained by persons other than the manufacturer, unless the importer either produces a statement of the manufacturer showing that he has no objection to raise against the exemption of the goods from duty, or otherwise makes it clear that no such objection can reasonably be expected on the part of the manufacturer or his legal representative; (r) transport material imported only for temporary use in Sweden, such as railway vehicles, when used for importation or intended for the export from Sweden of merchandise and passengers; and also, under such conditions as the local Customs authorities may consider necessary in special cases, draught animals and vehicles which are evidently used only for the transport of merchandise or passengers to Sweden over the frontier and are immediately exported; (s) insignia of Orders granted by foreign States and the like; also exhibition medals or other prizes which have been granted in open competition abroad to persons domiciled in Sweden; (t) coffins with bodies and urns with human ashes; also wreaths and the like accompanying them, as well as wreaths and flowers imported separately in commemoration of deceased persons; also, (u) natural history and ethnographical specimens for scientific collections.

The special measures of control and general regulations which may be required to prevent the abuse of the exemption from duty accorded in virtue of this Section shall be issued by Royal Decree. Special provisions may also be issued in the same manner, so far as may be found necessary, with regard to vessels engaged in the home and foreign trade combined with a view to limiting the exemption from duty granted under (x) in respect of ships' stores.

NOTES TO SECTION XIIa.—(1) The expression " iron " as used in this section includes also steel. (2) Articles of iron coated by mechanical process (plated) with nickel, copper or copper alloys are dutiable as the metal of which the coating consists. This provision shall not apply, however, in the case of sheet iron. Articles of iron plated with silver or gold are treated as silvered or gilt. (3) When a distinction is made above in the case of iron manufactures between those " worked " and " not worked " and the nature of the " working " is not further described, the goods are to be regarded as worked when their exterior or any part thereof has undergone any special treatment, or their form has been altered, provided that such special treatment or alteration can be considered as being intended to fit them for some special purpose, to improve their appearance, or—with the exception set out below—to protect them from rust. All articles which have been wholly or partly filed, milled, turned, perforated, stamped, planed, ground or polished, or which have received an even grey, brown or other colour as a result of being covered with oil and heated, or cleaned in the scouring barrel, are therefore to be considered as worked, as well as all articles which have been wholly or partly painted, varnished, lacquered, enamelled, coated with other non-precious metals or alloys thereof (but with the exception laid down in the heading to Nos. 709 and 710), and all articles put together with rivets or screws or in some similar way. If the roughness of surface after the goods have been cast, wrought or rolled, is removed more or less completely, the goods are to be treated as worked. On the other hand, the worming, cutting, extension or contraction of the ends of pipes, the treatment of different parts of an article to test its freedom from flaws, the removal of cinders by pickling in acid, the removal of casting seams, cooling faults and other flaws in casting, the smoothing of broken surfaces, the cutting of shrinkage heads, groutings, etc., are not to be regarded as working, nor is a coating with oil, oil paint, tar, asphalt, or black lead, evidently intended only to protect the goods from rust. (4) If an article not specially mentioned in the Tariff is composed partly of malleable and partly of non-malleable iron, it shall pay duty according to its chief component. (5) In assessing duty on the metal manufactures mentioned in this section no deduction from the weight shall be allowed for cases, boxes, paper and similar receptacles, nor for cards.

NOTES TO SECTION XIII. A.—(1) The rates stated are applicable, unless otherwise stated, to machines, whole or in parts, even if any subordinate component parts are missing. In declaring machines in parts for clearance or warehousing, the owner must supply an explanatory statement and specification of the parts together with a drawing, showing that the parts together form a machine—so far as these may be required for the guidance of the Customs. (2) The fact that a machine is imported in separate parts which arrive on different occasions shall not prevent the application of the rate applicable to the machine as a whole, if the importer so requires. (3) The further regulations required to give effect to the provisions of Notes 1 and 2 shall be issued by Royal Decree. (4) Parts of machines, not specially mentioned, imported loose, shall pay as articles of the material of which they consist. (5) When different machines are imported joined together in such a way that they cannot be weighed separately, the weight must be ascertained at the cost of the owner by some other means which the Customs regard as satisfactory. If they are joined by means of a common bottom-plate, this is to pay duty separately as the material, worked, of which it consists, provided it can be unfastened. This provision in regard to the ascertainment of weight by some means other than direct weighing, shall apply also when the size of a machine renders the weighing apparatus available locally of no use in determining the weight. (6) The amount of duty payable on machines, apparatus and parts thereof, which are chargeable by weight, must in all cases amount to at least 5 p.c. ad val. On machines, apparatus and parts thereof, for which rates varying according to the weight per article are fixed, the duty may in no case amount to less than the amount payable on the most highly taxed articles in the group with the next lower weight.

The following are the principal provisions of the Tariff and Revenue Act, 1913 with respect to importation of merchandise.

Section III. (b). All imports shall be regarded as the property of the consignee; the holder of a bill of lading endorsed by consignee shall be deemed the consignee; in the case of merchandise abandoned to underwriters, the latter to be recognized as consignee.

(c). All invoices are to be made out in the currency of the exporting country; or if already purchased, in the currency paid or agreed to be paid; and shall contain a correct, complete and detailed description of the merchandise and packings and wrappings thereof, and shall be made in triplicate (or in quadruplicate in the case of merchandise intended for immediate transportation without appraisement) and signed by the shipper of the goods or his agent.

(d). Before shipment all invoices are to be presented to the Consular Officer of the United States of the consular district where the goods were manufactured, or assembled for shipment. Exporter must certify that invoice is a true and complete statement of the price of the goods and that no different invoice of the merchandise mentioned in the invoice so produced has been or will be furnished to anyone.

(e). No goods over £100 in value, except personal effects accompanying a passenger, are allowed to be imported unless a certified invoice is produced.

(f). On entry of goods a declaration is to be filed with the collector of the port of entry and signed by the consignee.

(i). The owner, consignee or agent of any imported merchandise may, at the time when he shall make entry of such merchandise, but not after either the invoice or the merchandise has come under the observation of the appraiser, make such addition to or such deduction from the cost or value given in the invoice, which he shall produce with his entry, as in his opinion may raise or lower the same to the actual market value or wholesale price of such merchandise at the time of exportation to the United States, in the principal markets of the exporting country; and the collector shall cause the actual market value or wholesale price of such merchandise to be appraised; if the appraised value of an article subject to ad valorem duty is greater than the value declared in the entry, there shall be levied an additional duty of 1 % of the total appraised value for every 1 % that such appraised value exceeds the value declared in the entry. Such additional duties shall apply only to the particular articles undervalued, and are limited to 75 % of the appraised value. If the undervaluation exceeds 75 % it will be regarded as presumptively fraudulent.

(j.) Goods consigned to a partner or agent must be accompanied by a signed declaration showing the cost of production of such goods.

(k). Ad valorem duties are assessed on the actual market value or wholesale price of the goods at the time of exportation to the United States, in the principal markets of the exporting country.

(u). If any person, persons, corporations or other bodies, selling, shipping, consigning or manufacturing merchandise exported to the United States, shall fail or refuse to submit to the inspection of a duly accredited investigating officer of the United States, when so requested to do any or all of his books, records or accounts pertaining to the value or classification of such merchandise, then the Secretary of the Treasury, in his discretion, is authorized, while such failure or refusal continues, to levy an additional duty of 15 % ad val. on all such merchandise imported into the United States.

Provided, however, that such additional duties shall not be imposed in case the laws of the country of exportation provide for the administration by its duly authorized officers of oaths to invoices, or statements of cost, before certification by Consuls and for punishment for false swearing under such oaths.

Note.—The Statutory Declarations Act, 1835, meets these requirements, and consequently no additional duty is imposed on goods imported from the United Kingdom.

(cc). Baggage or personal effects arriving in the United States in transit to any foreign country may be delivered by the parties having it in charge to the collector of the proper district, to be by him returned, without payment or exaction of any import duty, or to be forwarded by such collector to the collector of the port of departure and to be delivered to such parties on their departure for their foreign destination, under regulation of the Secretary of the Treasury.

Section IV. (e). Whenever any country, dependency, colony, province or other political subdivision of government shall pay or bestow, directly or indirectly, any bounty or grant upon the exportation of any article or merchandise from such country, dependency, colony, province, or other political subdivision of government, and such article or merchandise is dutiable under the provisions of this Act, then upon the importation of any such article or merchandise into the United States, whether the same shall be imported directly from the country of production or otherwise, and whether such article or merchandise is imported in the same condition as when exported from the country of production or has been changed in condition by remanufacture or otherwise, there shall be levied and paid, in all such cases, in addition to the duties otherwise imposed by this Act, an additional duty equal to the net amount of such bounty or grant, however the same be paid or bestowed. The net amount of all such bounties or grants shall be from time to time ascertained, determined, and declared by the Secretary of the Treasury, who shall make all needful regulations for the identification of such articles and merchandise and for the assessment and collection of such additional duties.

In accordance with this regulation, the following additional duties have been imposed:—(a) On "plain British Spirits" and "Spirits in the nature of spirits of wine," 3d. per gallon computed at hydrometer proof. (b) On British compounded spirits, 5d. per gallon. Additional duties are also collected on wheat, flour, split peas and crude or unmanufactured peas when exported from Germany.

(f). All articles of foreign manufacture or production shall be marked o as to show the country of origin, if the same can be done without injury. All packages containing foreign-made articles must likewise be marked.

(g) (h) (i). Prohibitions. The following are prohibited: Obscene books, pamphlets, papers, writings, advertisements, circulars, prints, pictures, drawings or other representations, figures, or images on or of paper or other material. (j). 2. No goods, wares, or merchandise, unless in cases provided for by treaty, shall be imported into the United States from any foreign port or place, except in vessels of the United States, or in such foreign vessels as truly and wholly belong to the citizens or subjects of that country of which the goods are the growth, production, or manufacture, or from which such goods, wares, or merchandise can only be, or most usually are, first shipped for transportation. All goods, wares, or merchandise imported contrary to this section, and the vessel wherein the same shall be imported, together with her cargo, tackle, apparel, and furniture, shall be forfeited to the United States; and such goods, wares, or merchandise, ship, or vessel, and cargo shall be liable to be seized, prosecuted and condemned in like manner, and under the same regulations, restrictions, and provisions as have been heretofore established for the recovery, collection, distribution, and remission of forfeitures to the United States by the several revenue laws.

(j). 3. The preceding subsection shall not apply to vessels or goods, wares, or merchandise imported in vessels of a foreign nation which does not maintain a similar regulation against vessels of the United States.

THE SPHERE

Price Sixpence Weekly. By Post 6½d.

Annual Subscription at Home, 29s. 6d.; Canada 31s. 6d.; Elsewhere Abroad, 42s. 6d.

THERE are many reasons why you should buy THE SPHERE in times of peace. There are still more reasons why you should buy it in war time. There is the elementary fact that which commenced with the issue of August 8th, form the most scientific record of the great War that is obtainable, the most accurate in its maps and plans. Everyone can follow the intricacies of the campaign in France and Belgium, or of the campaign in East Prussia and Poland, from THE SPHERE diagrams and maps.

THE SPHERE has the best and most accurate pictures of the War, many of them sent from the actual scenes by M. Paul Thiriat, a brilliant French artist; others by such accomplished artists as Signor Fortunino Matania, whose work has a world-wide reputation for its accuracy of detail and for its spirited interpretation of the many sketches from the front which constantly reach THE SPHERE office. You will buy if you want to preserve a souvenir of the great struggle unique in its artistic quality and in its scientific accuracy of detail.

JOHN BARTHOLOMEW & CO., EDINBURGH.

NEW EDITION. Entirely Re-Written and Re-Set in Clear Type.

The Survey Gazetteer
OF THE
British Isles

TOPOGRAPHICAL, STATISTICAL, & COMMERCIAL

The New Edition consists of about 800 pages, and contains Notices of about 82,000 Place-Names—over 12,000 Seats, Shootings, Lodges, and Mansion Houses. Also Names of Deer Forests, Fishing Lochs and Streams, and Grouse Moors throughout the Country.

Edited by J. G. BARTHOLOMEW, LL.D.

WITH APPENDICES AND ATLAS

Strongly Bound in Buckram - 15/- Net.

Glasgow Herald.—"Has the unmistakable stamp of the house of Bartholomew over it all—completeness, accuracy, and excellence of production. A careful scrutiny of the topographical changes in the last ten years has led to the addition of 12,000 entries, and by careful planning the bulk of the volume has actually been reduced, the use of smaller type and special paper being the means taken to bring about greater handiness. An Appendix contains an etymological Glossary of place names; table of comparative statistics relating to demography, agriculture, climate, etc.; and a complete Atlas of the British Isles, printed with all the beauty and clearness we are accustomed to expect from this house."

Copies of the Work may be had from any Bookseller, or
